

Dem Boyz aint from Round Here

Location:

Sundown Saloon

1136 Pearl St
Boulder, CO 80302-5177
(303) 449-4987

Need: Josh's Mask, 10 extras, Fake skin material also attach material to clothes to seem its part of the skin not dressed.

Notes: Moon scene will be filmed on Green Screen. Acid scene will green screened from Wizard of Oz which melting.

Host: When I had just arrived from Cambridge, back to my home town of Beautiful Boulder Colorado, there was a bit of a culture clash that I had to try to adapt or overcome, check it out:

Setting: A guy walks into a bar with his friend. He is wearing white tennis, slacks, and a Harvard Hoodie. The locals wear the same types of clothes but have Colorado University Hoodies, not to mention hillbilly characteristics like missing teeth. But just because the sweater two of them begin to talk to one another:

Josh Valdez: "this guy ain't from round heare."

Chad Punggerchar: "Dem, Boys outer-towners".

Then they approach the out-of-towners in a menacing way.

Josh: what you boys doing on our turf? Huh?

Kelvin Xuna: "How'd you know we're not from here? We're wearing the same clothes."

They reply with low-browed expressions.

Josh Valdez: "oh we know" as they glance at each other.

Kelvins Friend, Dustin Goodew "They're on to us..."

Then like Keanu Reeves in the movie the Earth Stood Still Kelvin's skin/clothes begins to fall and slide off like pieces of meat to the floor to unveil a creature of a distant planet. (using quinn's or josh's mask). Mist up my face so it looks like the skin is deteriorating, then from a blurred and unclear perspective the material begins to fall on the ground around me to reveal the mask and a green suit to overlay a ghastly figure.

then Harvard throws up all over the locals faces which makes them melt like if it were acid. (this can be done with green screen).

As the rest of the bar looks in disbelief of what just happened. Harvard looks back at them with body language to reassure their disbelief and communicate that this really just happened.

Dustin: We gotta get you out of here!

Kelvin Xuna: As he lights up a cigarette. "that just happened."

Then Dustin wraps Kelvin up In a brown potato sack and leave the bar. The next shot shows Harvard getting on the pegs of Dustin's BMX and they start flying across the moon like the shot from ET with the same soundtrack in the background.

<End Skit>

I am in need of some pretty good prosthetic makeup. Please review the attached skit. It would require having a man stand in position as we make it look like his flesh is falling off like Keanu Reeves in the movie the Earth Stood Still. It may seem complicated but really its a quick shoot and I am not expecting the best quality. Lets just do it for fun, however you will be compensated a percentage of profits from potential revenues of the project.

We have a low budget for this so what I was thinking just using pieces of scrap meat from a local butcher shop, adhering the coresponding pieces of clothing to them, and then take it in time lapse so we can position a piece at a time to fall. Each time a piece falls a bloody void will need to be in its place. Any alternative ideas on the best way to go about this? Would you be able to do this and be ready by Tuesday? Let me know soon. Thank you.

-Kelvin