

INT. SMELI DELI - CAMPUS - DAY

MOHAMMED has been in business at his new gas station shop for about a month and already is in the hole thousands of dollars due to the harsh 2008 economy. He has 17 kids whom are going to make fun of his soon to be next failure if this deli doesn't work out.

He thinks it is mandatory to spark up an mutually interesting conversation with his customers so they build a relationship and they come back as well as make referrals.

He double checks his shotgun under the counter whenever he is board just to confirm it is there. He looks up and notices a customer approaching his motion-censored sliding doors. He eagerly puts on a bright perky smile across his face and begins to greet the customer just as the doors are beginning to open.

MOHAMMED
(portrayed by Josh Valdez in a strong Arab accent)
Welcome to my humble store!!!

CUSTOMER
(portrayed by Brian Dee)
What?

Then looks away awkwardly as he begins to look at the products for sale in the isles.

MOHAMMED
(starts with normal
questions)
How may I be of a service to you young-professional customer?

CUSTOMER
What?

Then nods his head and continues shopping.

CAMERA ZOOMS UP AT MOHAMIDS FACE GETTING NERVOUS, BEADS OF SWEAT ACCUMULATING ON HIS FOREHEAD, BITING HIS LOWER LIP SLIGHTLY, EAGERLY TRYING TO THINK OF GOOD QUESTIONS TO ENTERTAIN HIS LOYAL CUSTOMER WHILE HE SHOPS.

MOHAMMED
What kind of shoes are those?

CUSTOMER
Air Jordans.

MOHAMMED

How much?

CUSTOMER

$85 on discount at foot locker.

MOHAMMED

Can I borrow them?

CUSTOMER

I don't think so. Where are your guy's condoms?

MOHAMMED

You don't like to go bareback?

CUSTOMER

Dude...

(long pause as if he is going to say 'mind your own business')

I could pull out but you never know if you leave some preliminaries in there.

MOHAMMED

(eagerly commences to a two way conversation as he thinks he nailed an interesting topic for his
customer)

You just need to smoke a lot of seeds and stems with your gaunja and you will be fine. Its an old family tradition.

CUSTOMER

(as he ponders the notion)
That's not a bad idea, but what about protection from disease?

MOHAMMED

In today day and age there is a cure for everything. You can even suppress aids until you die of old age. Look at Magic Johnson. Its all because of Mannatech. No one uses condoms anymore.

(He laughs in obviousness)

Don't you watch YouPorn? This isn't the 90's anymore.

CUSTOMER
Its cool sir, I like my lamb skin condoms. Do you have any?

MOHAMMED
(he doesn't have so he gets nervous and avoids
the question)
Can I borrow your shoes sometime?

The guys wife comes in and asks:

WIFE
What the fuck is taking so long
Jim?

MOHAMMED sees her and has a flash back as seen by the audience as another clip, of him hooking up with her last week. The clip is audio-less, but shows them unexpectedly partying at a rave where the clerk is all fucked up on acid and they have a sexual encounter in a dance circle as everyone looks in disgust. The clip jumps to the next seen that shows a text book picture of some nasty STD on a dark penis.

CUSTOMER
Well, I guess I will do what you suggested.

MOHAMMED Ummmm, listen, I lied. Seeds and stems don't work brotha.

CUSTOMER
No, I think your right, I heard that too somewhere.

The customer leaves as MOHAMMED is saying Ummm, trying to say the next thing.

The next customer walks in and he asks one question before the end of the skit.

Its an attractive girl with her white thong hanging out.

MOHAMMED
I noticed your panties are very clean, how often do you wash them?

I wash them all the time dush bag, is this a dush store or can I get my lotto ticket? Im feeling lucky.